Emma’s puppy problem

As soon as she turned eight years old, Emma knew she was old enough for the responsibility of looking after a puppy. She had even promised to start doing all of the things you would do with a dog to prove to her grumpy dad that she could. Emma knew she had to go on long walks twice a day, although she did not get out of bed before noon. She watered the plants in the house every day to prove that she could keep something alive, although she watered them a bit too much. Emma also knew one thing for certain: she would not be picking up anything that the dog left in the backyard. Not once. Not ever. That was her dad’s job.
