

PUBLIC SCHOOL DARBHANGA

CLASS : IV

SUBJECT : ENGLISH (Worksheet 1)

TOPIC : CONJUNCTIONS

A Conjunction is a word used for joining words or sentences.

Examples:

1. Ram came to my house. His sister came to my house. Ram and his sister came to my house.
2. Misha worked hard. She failed in the exam.
Misha worked hard but she failed in the exam.
3. You should work hard. You will fail in the exam.
You should work or you will fail in the exam.
4. I missed the bus. I got up late.
I missed the bus because I got up late.
5. You do your best. You will surely succeed.
If you do your best, you will surely succeed.

So in the above sentences ‘and’, ‘but’, ‘or’, ‘because’ and ‘If’ are called Conjunctions as they join two sentences

(You can also say that these words help in conjugation (combining two sentences into one) of sentences.)

Q1. Complete the following passage by filling in the blanks with suitable and, but, or, if, before, when, as, so

--

conjunctions given in the box below:

People think that all snakes are dangerous (a) _____ most snakes are harmless. Snake poison is called venom. Only a few snakes have venom which can kill animals (b) humans. (c) _____ a snake with its venom bites its prey, it releases poison in the skin of the prey. The bite does not kill the prey (d) _____ the poison does. (e) _____ we look at figures, in India about 30,000 people die (g) _____ they live far away from hospitals. It is just (h) _____ sad that many more snakes are killed by us. People hunt snakes either for their skins (i) _____ for their venom which is used in medicines